

Hello...It's Me

Written by Dawn M. Christiansen for the students of Franklin Elementary School, Appleton, WI, 2009, in respect of Kayla's journey.

Chorus

Hello, it's me.
Just wondering what you see.
Well, I want you to know that there is more
Than what you might see walk through that door.
I'm special in ways some might ignore,
But that's okay.
I'm GREAT anyway!

Verse 1

My legs may not be quick,
But they take me to my dreams.
My hair may not be thick,
But it warms my thoughts, it seems.
My teeth may not be straight,
But the pizza doesn't mind!
I still have a heart and happiness to find. (Chorus)

Verse 2

My voice may be off-pitch,
But it sings the song of ME!
My eyes may sometimes twitch,
But oh, the beauty they can see!
My feet may not be your size,
But they carry me quite well.
I still have feelings and a story to tell. (Chorus)

Verse 3

My lips may not be full,
But their smile can make your day!
My arms may not have pull,
But they lift to say "Hooray!"
My ears may stick out funny,
But they hear your compliments
I'll be your friend, your cheering audience!

Hello, it's me,
I'm GREAT, you see!
